Los Robles Master Chorale to Sing at Hollywood Bowl

Lesley Leighton, Artistic Director of Los Robles Master Chorale, will lead the 240-voice choir at the annual Hollywood Bowl Easter Sunrise Service. A large contingent of LRMC singers will be joining the combined choir, which will be comprised of members from church and community choruses from the greater Los Angeles area.

In addition to singing the traditional service music with the combined choir, Los Robles Master Chorale will be performing one selection on its own, Ave Verum Corpus, by Ariel Quintana, the Argentine-born assistant conductor of the Los Angeles Master Chorale.

Marking its 88th anniversary this year, The Hollywood Bowl Easter Sunrise Service was first held in 1921. "Peace on Earth" is the theme of this year's service, which will be celebrated by six multi-denominational clergy.

The service takes place April 12, from 5:30 am to 7 am. Admission and parking are free. Further details are available at www.hollywoodbowleaster.com. Information about Los Robles Master Chorale and its upcoming May concert, Splash!, can be found at www.losroblesmasterchorale.org.
